

Kenyan High Commissioner Visits Belfast

21 May 2011

Belfast, NORTHERN IRELAND: H.E. Mr Ephraim Ngare - High Commissioner for Kenya to the United Kingdom along with staff from the Kenyan High Commission in London visited Belfast as part of Madaraka Day and its ongoing engagement with the Kenyan Diaspora in Northern Ireland.

The event was organised by the Kenyan Association of Northern Ireland (KANI) with a lunch reception, music and discussions with the High Commissioner and staff.

Centre:
H.E. Mr Ephraim Ngare - High Commissioner for Kenya to the United Kingdom along with staff from the Kenyan High Commission in London

Other guests included Dr Christopher Stange - Public Relations Officer, Afro-Community Support Organisation Northern Ireland (ACSONI) and Hon. Consul for St. Vincent and the Grenadines to Northern Ireland, Patrick Yu - Executive Director, Northern Ireland Council of Ethnic Minorities (NICEM) and various individuals carrying out education and social development projects in Kenya.

The evening concluded with a vote of thanks, appreciation to those assisting KANI in its efforts, and special mention to those individuals working for the benefit of Kenya in Northern Ireland.

ENDS